'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Is it any wonder that real estate men find an early grave?

They tell us that the other day a certain woman entered a local realtor office and asked to see a good home. She so she said, was willing to pay any amount for a home that suited her.

Now that realtor just had a brand new home for sale. A peach. Even he admitted that it was good. For more than an hour he explained in detail every part of the house and his customer seemed more than pleased.

"There is only one thing," the customer said, "where is the home located."

"At 127 Elbe street, the most aristocratic part of the city," the realtor replied.

The customer's face fell (plunk!) She shrugged her shoulders, then shook her head. "No, that will never do," she said.

For a moment the realtor was agast. He looked at her, wild eyed with surprise. "Why my dear lady," he gasped, "Elbe street is the best section in town. And the house is just perfect—you admitted that."

"Yes, I know, but that street—ugh! Just think of it! My name is Mrs. Jackson Brown Smith. And that address, 127 Elbe street. Can't you see how terrible that would look on an envelope? Why my name would overbalance the address. I'm terribly sorry but I must find a house on a street that has a long name."

Of course you can take that for what it is worth. You may take it with a grain of salt. On second thought, you'd better take three or four grains.

A note on the desk that a lip reading class is to be established in Richmond reminds us that half the fun of watching a movie is now gone since the talkies are here to stay.

Remember how you used to watch your favorite actor or actress on the screen? Remember how you would see his or her lips moving and then the printed caption, "I only love you!" would flash on the screen. And how you wondered whether or not she or he really said that?

Now you haven't any doubt as to what they say.

Widow Of Slain Bandit Indicted On Two Charges

BAIL WILL REMAIN AT $100,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—UP—The widow of Frank E. Smith, identified in the Oakland morgue Monday as leader of the bandits who have held up trains in the San Francisco bay region during the past year, was indicted by a federal grand jury here tonight.

The indictment charged mail robbery at the point of a gun, the minimum penalty for which is 25 years in prison, and conspiracy to further a robbery. It was returned against Mrs. Ellen Ellis, the name used by the wife of Smith when she married him.

Judge Harold Louie back ruled that bail for Mrs. Ellis should remain at $100,000.

Both counts of the indictment referred to the robbery of a train near McAvoy in Contra Costa county last year, when $16,000 was taken. They contained the allegation that Mrs. Ellis drove the automobile in which the gang operated.

No mention was made of the train robbery near Berkeley several weeks ago. Part of the $56,000 taken in that hold-up was found in Smith's home, officers claim.

Mrs. Ellis was called before United States Attorney George J. Hatfield today but refused to talk. Hatfield, it was understood, wished to question her about reports that her husband had deposited more than $250,000 in Oakland banks under assumed names and also regarding a new clue as to the whereabouts of other members of the band.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 2.—UP—A thrilling race against death over a trackless snow-covered wilderness was believed won tonight by Dr. Don S. Numers, who fought his way through storms and huge drifts with a dog sled to reach the bedside of a stricken patient in Burgdorf, 30 miles from McCall, Idaho.

Dr. Numers, hero of many trips of mercy into isolated sections of Idaho, was summoned late Monday to attempt the hazardous journey to Burgdorf to operate on J. D. Monroe, a mountaineer, was reported dying.

A blizzard was raging. Undaunted, the physician left immediately. Even forest rangers said it was a battle against odds. All paths to the small settlement had been obliterated by he drifts. Dr. Numers left word he would make a brief stop at Squaw Meadows, 18 miles from McCall, and would notify authorities at the latter city of his progress.

At noon today he had not been heard from. Posses were organized to retrace his tracks, but could make no headway. Due to the fury of the storm.

While the poses were figuring out a way to hunt for the physician, Dr. Numers telephoned officials at McCall he had succeeded in reaching Burgdorf. He advised he had brought Monroe from White Creek to Burgdorf, 20 miles on the sled. An emergency operation was performed immediately. Tonight Monroe was reported to have a fighting chance for life.

BANDIT SHOT, 2 CAPTURED IN HOLDUP

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—UP—A holdup of a security First National Bank branch late today proved disastrous to the three bandits who entered the institution and fled in a hail of bullets.

Philip Holden, 25, driver of the bandit car, was shot by Gordon Corson, service station operator, who saw him sitting in the machine with a sawed off shotgun across his knees. Holden may die of a head wound.

The other two bandits were captured. Tom Coffee, 28, an Oklahoma Indian, was cornered in a school yard by Deputy Sheriff Percy Rogers, who was passing the bank. The third bandit, at first unidentified, eluded two citizens who chased him despite gunfire, and later was run down by police officers. The two captured men were removed to the city jail.

Ignorance of the precise time the bandits entered the bank shortly before closing time. After obtaining about $1,000, which was recovered later, they left. Manager J. F. (Brien and Teller Harry Weddel opened fire and the pursuit started.

HOOPER FINDS COUNTRY IN GOOD STATE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—UP—President Hoover reported to congress today on the state of the union, devoting half of his annual message to the economic depression and proposing a fund of $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 to be spent by a cabinet committee in addition to increased public works.

A dozen bills designed to remedy business and agriculture were offered in congress as Republican leaders announced relief measures would be taken up as fast as they were ready.

But the Democrats attacked many of Hoover's proposals, especially the proposal to give a cabinet committee a free hand in spending so large a sum. From a Democrat also came a protest that the amount should be a billion dollars, and this critic, Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, introduced a resolution for a senate committee of 11 to superintend relief measures.

Hoover's message was cheerful, characterizing the depression as a passing phase and predicting the United States would lead the way up to prosperity.

"Our country is today stronger and richer in resources, equipment and skill, than ever in history," he said. He listed several business indexes comparing the last three months with the same period of 1928, showing department store sales were 93 percent of the 'peak' period, factory production 80 percent, factory employment 84 percent and wholesale prices 83 percent. Retail prices only dropped six percent however, his figures showed a little over one-third the wholesale drop.

Hoover urged action on Muscle Shoals, bus regulation, relief of congested courts, reorganization of the border patrol, railroad consolidation, regulation of Interstate Electric power and revision of immigration on a more limited basis. Bills for these are now pending before congress. He also asked for postoffice construction to substitute for leased buildings.

He said he would send the Roosevelt world court formula to the senate in a later message.

NEW FIGHT FOR MOONEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—UP—The majority opinion of the California supreme court in which six justices refused to recommend a pardon for Warren K. Billings will be answered by Edwin McKenzie, attorney for Billings, in legal form, the lawyer announced today.

McKenzie said he would study carefully the lengthy opinion which will guide Gov. C. C. Young in deciding the applications for pardon filed by Billings and Thomas J. Mooney, who were convicted on charges of perpetrating the Preparedness day bombing of 1916 which killed 10 persons here.

Justice William H. Langdon was the only member of the court who favored executive clemency for Billings.

Since rules of procedure are vague in such a case—the Billings case was the first considered by the supreme court under a new state law—McKenzie said he had not decided what he might do other than file the answer. He said, however, he was contemplating a petition to the court for a rehearing.

BANK CLERK SHOOTS SELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—In the presence of fellow employees, W. J. Gibson, 52 shot himself to death in the Market-Sansome branch of Anglo California Trust company bank this morning as he entered to go to work.

Illness was blamed for the act of Gibson, who until recently was at one of the bank's windows. He had been employed at the bank since 1919. His home was in San Anselmo.

PRICE SLASH SEEN HERE SOON

Gasoline dealers of Richmond and vicinity were maintaining the lowest stocks possible today in anticipation of a price cut said to be inevitable before the week ends, according to reports made yesterday.

Although major oil companies declare they had received no word of an intended cut, dealers declare general business conditions along with competition from independent dealers would force a lowering of gasoline prices.

In San Francisco, Joseph Devenenzi, president of the Retail Service Station Dealers association, declared present business conditions would force the cut.

Richmond service station dealers were complaining about the low price gas now being offered for sale along San Pablo avenue. Many station operators were seeking a lower price from the major concerns that they might compete with the San Pablo avenue dealers.

In Los Angeles it was reported some of the independents were selling as low as six cents a gallon below the price asked by the major service stations.

HIGH SCHOOL 'A' CAGERS WINS SEASON OPENER

BEAR QUINTET TO START SEASON

BERKELEY, Dec. 2.—University of California basketball players will reach the end of a fall practice period of nearly two months' duration Thursday evening when the last work-out before examinations will be held.

Harold "Hap" Houvenin, assistant varsity coach, announced today that he will cut the present squad of 25 men Wednesday evening to 18 varsity players. This squad will be carried without further cut throughout the season which officially opens Tuesday evening, December 23, with a practice game with Oregon State College at Harmon gymnasium.

Twice-a-day practices will be the rule from December 20 until January 6, the period between the close of final examinations and the opening of the university for the spring semester. During this period the Golden Bears will play two and possibly three practice games; Oregon State, on December 23, and University of Montana on January 6. December 30 is being held as an open date.

The Bears will enter the 1931 campaign minus the services of five of the eight letter winners of last season, among them Kent Pursel, all-coast forward; Captain Perry Ten Eyck, stellar center, and Wilson Tripp, the other regular forward. Pursel, Tripp and Ten Eyck—in that order—were the individual high scorers for California, and Pursel led all other players in the conference in total points scored. Tripp accounted for 121 points during the season, and Captain Ten Eyck, who tallied 75, was named on the second all-coast five.

With this formidable scoring trio missing from the roster, together with Willis "Whitey" Neelson and Walt Weber, both forwards, the Bears are in a bad way for forward material and will be forced to rely chiefly upon inexperienced men.

Joe Gitana, who played in only five games last year, appears to be the likeliest candidate for one of the five spots. He is a forward, and is being coached by Coach Houvenin.

In the event that Coffield regularly at running guard, he will have a capable substitute in Davis. The place thus left vacant at forward will be taken by Clarence Granger, of the 1930 squad. Vendt will undoubtedly be a fixture at standing guard.

Center honors are being contested by two inexperienced players, Jack Read, the lanky center of last year's brilliant freshman team, and Ed Warhurst, substitute on last year's varsity squad. Read was the key man of the yearling attack, and, despite inexperience, holds an edge over Warhurst, who got into only two of the games last season.

Leading guard substitutes include Homer Koutz, of last year's squad, and Ted Ohashi, brilliant freshman performer.

Following is the varsity schedule:

December 23—Oregon State at Harmon gymnasium.

December 30—Open.

January 6—Montana, at Harmon gymnasium.

January 10—Southern California at Oakland auditorium.

January 14—Olympic club, Oakland auditorium.

January 17—U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

January 21—St. Mary's, Oakland auditorium.

Yardley of the Dollar liner President Cleveland (left) is shown here doing just that thing. It's about golf, though, which makes a difference. Don Moe, Portland, Ore., youngster, who has cut quite a few capers in big-time golf in the U. S. this year, is giving Capt. Yardley a few pointers. Moe, until a few days ago, was a junior officer aboard the President Cleveland.

Local Cagers Defeated By Oleum Quintet

The McRacken Clothiers last night went down before the invading Oleum Union Oil quintet by a score of 24 to 21 in a hotly contested cage game in the Roosevelt gymnasium.

Both aggregations continually alternated at the top of the scoring column throughout the game. The score stood 4 to 4 at the end of the first quarter. Oleum began to take the McRacken territory rather early in the second quarter, with the result that it was leading 10 to 7 at half time.

However, McRacken's entered into a 16 to 1 lead by the end of the third quarter. The standings of the teams changed places several times during the final period. With but two minutes to play, the teams were deadlocked 21 to 21. Marini then planted a long shot in the McRacken basket, and Schubert followed with a successful foul shot. The game ended in a wild dash into Oleum territory by the desperate McRacken cagers.

The members of the Oleum squad were: Marini, 8, Atkinson, 2, Gordon, 4, forwards; Schubert, 7, Nilsson, center; LaBouf, 2, Hecker, Gualdoni, 1, guards.

The McRacken squad included: Hall, 4, Huzefka, 6, forwards; Flynn, 5, Milicovich, 4, centers; Barbieri, Lee, 2, guards.

CROCKETT FIVE DEFEATED BY LOCALS

The Richmond Union High school varsity quintet yesterday afternoon swamped the John Swett High school athletes of Crockett by a score of 25 to 7 in the official opening game of the local high school basketball season.

The local high school B team was not so lucky as their heavier team mates and lost to Crockett, 11 to 15.

The Richmond Union High school C team, newly named the "Green Wave" swept over the Crockett lightweights, and hung up a 16 to 8 victory.

The local varsity yesterday afternoon showed excellent teamwork that was a pleasure to view. The defensive work of the team was especially creditable, and Ed Westman and Carl Drexel played a sensational game in their own territory as guards. The entire Richmond team showed good form for early season play, and may be expected to hang up a good record this year.

The Richmond varsity had a little difficulty at the beginning of their game in making their many shots count. However, by the end of the first quarter the locals were leading 6 to 0. They were leading 10-1 at half time. The third quarter was a strong period for the Richmond boys, who finally went into an 18 to 1 lead by the end of the third quarter. In the fourth period, the Crockett team became faster in their attacks into local territory, while Richmond's forwards maintained their accurate shooting power.

The local B team yesterday played a strong, consistent brand of basketball, but found themselves up against an equally fast squad. The going was even all the way. Richmond was leading 8 to 6 at half time, while a 10 to 10 tie existed at the end of the third quarter. Crockett increased its pace in the fourth quarter and slipped quickly into its final lead.

The "Green Wave," so named for the green sweaters that are the costume of the team, displayed a fast and accurate shooting power. Paul Moitza fought exceedingly well in an offensive game and found the Crockett bucket often during the final quarter of play.

The Richmond Union high school basketball squads will next see action Tuesday afternoon, when they tangle with the San Rafael Military Academy aggregation on the local high school gymnasium floor.

The Richmond varsity yesterday included: Rollino 4, Marcus 11, forwards; Passone 4, center; Drexel 2, Westman 4, guards; substitutes: Boschetti, forward; Hoeffer, center; Masek, Rogers, guards.

The Crockett varsity consisted of: Rlenke 1, Lynch, forwards; Erickson, center; Vico 1, Tacconi 5, guards; substitutes: Owens, forward; Collier, center.

The Richmond B team included: Johnson, Dodge 2, forwards; Wilson 2, center; Tranne, Bowles 6, guards; substitutes—Ernie Johnson, Chris Santaella, forwards; Lutz 1, guard and Livingston, center.

The Crockett B athletes were: Donovan 2, Holder 6, forwards; McCloskey, center; Evan 2, Stribaldi 2, guards; substitutes, Ruggeri 2, forward; Thomas, Marques 2, guards.

The Richmond C team consisted of: Cervinka 2, Williams, Faust, Garcia and Tinker, 2, forwards; Moitza 6, center; DeCourten 5, Villalobos 1, Brooks, guards.

The Crockett C squad included: Kleiber 2, Garone, Botta, forwards; Biegg, Wolthus, Verdnet, centers; Williams, Gugli and Thompson 6, guards.

TROJAN COACH CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—UP—Rudyard Kipling wrote a line of poetry—"If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs."

Which fits exactly the mental attitude of Howard Jones, coach of the University of Southern California, towards the approaching football game between his team and Notre Dame here Saturday.

While everyone else seems to have gone slightly hysterical over the prospects of Southern California ending Notre Dame's string of 18 consecutive victories in the past two years, Jones calmly confided to the United Press today that he has built up no false illusions about his eleven conquering the Irish.

Chance To Lose

"I feel there's a good chance to lose to Notre Dame," said Jones. "We certainly are going to try to win, but I won't be terribly disappointed if we lose. By no means am I among those who think we'll overwhelm Notre Dame."

Southern California's crushing victories over its two traditional rivals, California 74-0 and Stanford 41-12, have caused many to believe that the Trojans, since they reached their peak, are unstoppable.

As far as offensive strength alone is concerned, Jones said his present team was the greatest he had ever coached.

Tells Plan

"My present team, when its functioning, certainly seems to be virtually unstoppable," said Jones. "But year in and year out Notre Dame has the best offensive team in the country. Their players are always the best blockers and interferers. They can't be much better after Rockne gets through drilling them."

Jones isn't making a secret of how he plans to play Notre Dame. "We are going to score as soon as possible and as often as possible," he said. "Some of our plans may be upset but we are going to get the ball as quick as we can and keep it all day long if we can. We are not going to kick until we have to."

Has Comment

For those who remember Washington State's 7-6 defeat of Southern California, and strangely few do around this region, Jones' comment on that game is interesting. "Washington State won the game," said Jones, "and that's to their credit. I feel that they were a bit more advanced than we were at that stage. However, I don't say that if we were to play the game over again tomorrow that Southern California would win. That's a matter for conjecture."

Along this same line, it is well to point out that since Jones came to Southern California the Trojans have lost but eight games, and five of these have been by an extra point after touchdown. Three times Notre Dame has defeated Southern California by a single point, while Stanford and Washington State each have won one game by the same margin.

No Kick Drill

No special preparation is being made in drilling the Southern California goal kickers this week. Jones said, although they have kicked only about 55 percent of the goals after touchdown thus far this year, Jones said that if Notre Dame had a touchdown lead and his team scored a touchdown, and needed the extra point to tie or win that he might have them attempt to buck it over or pass. Once this year Southern California successfully passed for the extra point.

"I'll have to admit that if Notre Dame should defeat us again by one point I would be rather disappointed," said Jones. "However, our players all play up to standard and we lose why I won't feel the least bit bad about it."

Doomed Man Lives To Commit One More Murder

LONDON (UP)—The case of a man who survived his own execution and lived to commit a murder afterwards, was described recently to a House of Commons committee considering a bill for abolition of capital punishment.

The witness was Sir Simon van der Aa, Dutchman whose British title was conferred in recognition of his services as secretary of the International Prison Congress in London, 1925. He told of the case which he said occurred in Italy at the end of the 18th century, and which the executioner aided the "executed" prisoner in order not to lose his job after he had bungled.

"It seems peculiar," Sir Simon said, "but it has been the case. The man was hanged, but not in a direct way. When the executioner came to take him off, he found the prisoner had lost his senses. But was alive. The executioner gave him money so that he might escape. The man became a servant later in an excess of fury, he killed a patient."

Sir Simon who is a member of the International Prison Committee and who is an opponent of capital punishment, said the last execution for murder in Holland took place in 1860, 10 years before capital punishment was formally abolished.

Clam Diggers Use Hands

RED WING, Minn.—Clam fishers operating along the Mississippi river near here have abandoned their traditional large rakes and hooks and instead are digging the mussels by hand and are getting even better hauls. Low water has made it possible for fishers to work to better advantage by hand. Some clambers work for hours in water to the waist. Clam shells are sold to button factories in Wisconsin, and small pearls found in the shells add zest to the work.

Nickel Almost Takes Life

BILLINGS, Mont.—Money usually comes in handy, but this particular nickel almost cost Martha Hull her life. The two-year-old child swallowed the coin which lodged in her throat. The five-cent piece obstructed the passage of food down the throat for three days. Finally a delicate operation was performed to remove it.

Joe Forgotten In Birthday Rites

WABASH, Ind.—Friends forgot when Joe Davis was to have his seventh birthday this year and there were only three red ties on the Davis table when Joe sat down to his birthday dinner. For as long as he can remember Joe has worn red ties but red ones and each birthday he received between 50 and 75 from his friends.

The authors of "Sunny Side Up," have looked far into the future in this production and projected on the screen their ideas of the world and romance in 1980.

Famous for their great popular song hits and stage successes, DeSylva, Brown and Henderson have provided a generous number for "Just Imagine," and the tuneless score is one of the many reasons why capacity crowds are flocking to see this picture. GRUMPY WILL BE SHOWN AT FOX TODAY

There are only a few plays that were ever good enough, far-reaching enough in their human appeal to be successful in such widely scattered countries as Australia, New Zealand, the United States, Canada, England and Scotland.

But "Grumpy" is one of that type of real successes with real human attractiveness. This grand old comedy-thriller started its great Odyssey of triumphs in Scotland in 1913. Cyril Maude, the famous English stage favorite, had been searching for a play to complete his repertoire for an American tour. He chose the new comedy-thriller, "Grumpy," and tried it out in Glasgow later taking it to New York, and eventually to the other countries.

He played in the title role of "Grumpy" 1300 times. On his sixty-eighth birthday he started work on the talking version of the play for Paramount, and the picture is to be seen at the Fox-California Theater today only. "Grumpy" is the story of a grumpy but benevolent old man, a retired criminal lawyer, who lives with his charming granddaughter near London. The action of the play begins on a week-end when there are two young men guests at the home of Grumpy. Both these visitors are in love with Virginia, the granddaughter. One of them, Heron, is in possession of a very valuable diamond which he is taking to a merchant in London from his employers in South Africa.

Jarvis, the other guest, is a society ne'er-do-well. During the night Heron is attacked and robbed of the diamond. Suspicion is thrown on Jarvis, but no proof of his guilt can be found. Grumpy leads in the sleuthing, which takes him to London and back to his home again in the amusing but thrilling pursuit of the villain. The canny and cankerous old man finally gets the culprit and the stolen property, and Phillips Holmes as Heron gets the girl (Frances Dade).

The original play was written by Horace Hodges and Thomas Wigney Percival. Doris Anderson authored the screen version.

Congdon Rites Will Be Held Here Thursday

Rites for William J. Congdon who passed away at his home 520 Nevin avenue yesterday will be held from Wilson and Kratzer chapel tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Congdon was a retired Santa Fe employee and had spent most of his life in Albuquerque, New Mexico where he was a carpenter foreman when pensioned.

He had been ill for some time. It was last spring that he was stricken while visiting here from New Mexico.

Surviving him are his wife Mrs. Elizabeth Congdon and his brother-in-law Thomas Townsend both of whom live at the family address at 520 Nevin avenue.

The Reverends H. I. Oberholzer and Edwin Castledine will officiate at the services to be conducted by Richmond Masons. Entombment will be in Sunset Mausoleum.

Man Objects To Friend's Parties

EVANSTON, Ill.,—UP—Keeping the home fires burning is a fine thing when you are there to watch them, Theodore J. Reed, 24, believes. But he does object to his friends staging parties in his apartment when he is away over week-ends. Finding the furniture disarranged on several Mondays, he has asked the police to keep an eye on the place when he is away.

Law Fails To Save Youth In Old Airplane

RED BLUFF, Dec. 2.—A mother's plea to aviation authorities to "ground" her son before he injured himself flying an obsolete type of plane, reached the proper authorities too late to save the lad from serious injury.

John Davis suffered a broken arm, broken shoulder, and possible internal injuries today when he crashed his ship near here. At that time the sheriff of Tehama county was on the way to the field with an order from U. S. authorities ordering him "grounding."

Mrs. J. A. Everetts of this city sent her request to Oakland, and the sheriff was ordered to halt future flights in the pre-war type Jenny.

Davis flew from Bidwell field near the city to a ranch in Antelope valley, and on his return flight was seen near a group of trees when the plane suddenly crashed.

Spectators found the lad in a critically injured condition. He was an expert pilot Mrs. Everetts said but he was sure to get hurt in the obsolete type of plane.

United States Department of Commerce inspectors said Davis violated both state and national air laws by flying the ship. Report was forwarded to Washington.

PLANKINTON, S. D.—A though many other crops have suffered from hot weather and drought, around here the local crop of pheasants promises to be the largest of any year. Lunch Finished Before Arrest

MANITOWOC, Wis.—The courtesy of Manitowoc patrolmen was displayed here when Joseph Waniger, 23, was allowed to finish his lunch before being placed under arrest. Just previous to the lunch Waniger had driven wildly down the left side of a local street. He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and paid a fine of $100.

ALGONIA, Ia.—Back in his own backyard, C. E. Binkert fishes for bullheads in a well stocked cistern. In the last few weeks he has pulled 40 bullheads ranging from one to two pounds from the well. Persons who lived in the Binkert house before him placed bullheads in the cistern with the intention of keeping them and the fish propagated.

SMALL RUBBER GROWERS HELD THREAT

LONDON.—The influence of the small home rubber grower, whose acreage has increased in the East Indies alone nearly 400 per cent in seven years, may yet become a determining factor in the fate of an industry now passing through a crisis.

And that increase is attributed by Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of Dunlop Rubber Co., Ltd., largely to the Stevenson restriction scheme adopted in 1922 and abandoned two years ago after overproduction offered a serious menace.

For 15 years up to 1915, Asiatic ownership of rubber producing lands was negligible. Since 1922, however, this factor in the Dutch East Indies increased nearly a million acres to 1,300,000, and in Malaya by 170,000 acres to 1,400,000. At present it is estimated that approximately half of the plantation industry is in Asiatic hands. In Malaya 7 per cent of these lands consist of small gardens on the owner's homestead.

The natives plant rubber seed along with their rice going on to clear more jungle while these plants mature. It is this practice which accounts largely for the difficulties of the European estates. For while they have heavy overhead charges, the natives have only himself and his family to feed. He can quickly increase his tapping when the price is favorable, and turn to something else when rubber is low.

The total of small-family tapping when prices are low has been estimated at 100,000 tons annually. Under stimulus of high prices, it is estimated this can be brought quickly to 350,000 tons. The only advantage the European company has over the small producer is that his product is usually worth about 2 1/2 pence more in the market. Native rubber from the Dutch East Indies usually sells in the Far East at 2 1/2 pence below the London price; European plantation rubber f. o. b. Singapore at one penny below London price.

The European producer even then is forced to cut his operating costs and fixed charges to the bone in order to compete.

TWO KILLED IN LOVE DUEL IN NORTH

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 2.—UP—While officers were searching for him questioning in connection with the fatal shooting of Ida Hume, 26-year-old waitress, and the wounding of Jack Lovett, 45, in the young woman's apartment this morning, John M. Llewellyn, wealthy Portland manufacturer, committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun in his summer home near here this afternoon.

Lovett and Miss Hume were having breakfast in the latter's apartment shortly before noon today, when a man, believed to have been Llewellyn, walked into the room. Lovett said the man swore at them and then pulled out a revolver and began shooting.

Miss Hume was instantly killed by shots through the neck and back. Lovett was injured when bullets struck him in the left arm and back. After the shooting the man dashed out of the apartment and fled.

Police, seeking for some trace of the killer, learned from Mrs. Effie Nelson, Miss Hume's apartment mate, that Llewellyn might know something about the shooting.

According to Mrs. Nelson, Llewellyn at one time said to Miss Hume: "If I can't have you, nobody else will."

Miss Hume had tried to talk Llewellyn "out of it," Mrs. Nelson said, reminding him of the differences in their ages, his family and other obstacles to their union.

Authorities, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson, went to Llewellyn's summer home to question him about the shooting. They were forced to break in, and found Llewellyn dead stretched across a sofa. He had been shot through the head, and his shotgun was lying across his legs.

Miss Hume's friends said that since her fiancé's death, about a year ago, she had not kept steady company with anyone.

Here's Frankness For You, Folks!

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2.—UP—Asked by a San Francisco newspaper to confirm or deny printed rumors that he had been offered a contract as coach at the University of California to succeed "Nibs" Price, Coach W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech, replied by wire:

"Have received no offer from any school. Am holding job here in spite of bad season and over protests of drug store experts. If University of Georgia gives our team bad thumping Saturday, may be glad to get any kind of a job. Can you use a good copy boy?"

"W. A. ALEXANDER."

WOMAN FLIER STARTS BACK FOR SHIP

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, Dec. 2.—UP—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, lost and found Australian flier, left in a Sikorsky plane for the Island of Andros at 1 p. m. today, to recover her monoplane and continue her flight to Miami, Fla. She was accompanied by Capt. William N. Lancaster, her companion on previous flights, who is acting as her advisor. Lancaster arrived in the Sikorsky today, following word of Mrs. Miller's landing on Andros, in the Bahama group, on a proposed flight from Havana, Cuba, to Miami.

Mrs. Miller was given a farewell informal reception by Sir Charles Orr, the governor of the Bahama Islands, Charles Dundas, colonial secretary, and other prominent officials and residents of Nassau.

The weather was fine when the big Sikorsky plane headed over the water for Andros, where Mrs. Miller's plane, The Bullet, was stalled.

Mrs. Miller said she started from Havana Friday in a high wind, and was blown eastward off the course which she had steered directly for Miami, without allowing for drift. The wind blew from the northeast, according to weather men, but somehow she got over 100 miles eastward off her course, in the teeth of the gale.

She landed in the interior of Andros Island Friday, she said, completely lost.

She then described how she walked through the dense bushes to Mangrove Cay, the nearest settlement, arriving with bleeding legs and torn clothing. She was brought to Nassau in a 20-foot sail and motor boat manned by P. F. Cavell, former world swimming champion who introduced the Australian crawl stroke to the world. He is now a boat builder and tarpon fishing guide and expert.

WIND BLEW FLIER OFF OF HER COURSE

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2.—UP—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller was blown from her course by an unexpected, stiff west wind which forced her to land at the Island of Andros in the Bahamas. John Liggett told the United Press tonight on his return from Nassau where he interviewed the Australian woman flier.

Liggett accompanied Capt. W. N. Lancaster, Mrs. Keith-Miller's technical adviser to Nassau by air.

DAVIS SEATED IN SPITE OF NYE PROTEST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—UP—James Davis was seated by the United States senate today as a senator from Pennsylvania, but it was an anxious seat that was awarded him over on the edge of the chamber near the door.

An attempt was made by Senator Gerald P. Nye, Rep., N. D., as chairman of the campaign investigating committee to stand him aside until inquiry into the $600,000 or more spent by the Davis-Brown primary campaign ticket is completed.

By a vote of 27 to 58, with the Democratic leadership as well as the administration opposing Nye, the senate refused to take up Nye's resolution to this end. Davis was then sworn in.

Nye immediately announced that the case was far from ended, and called two witnesses from Pennsylvania to appear tomorrow, and arranged to hear the testimony of Samuel Vaulchain, the locomotive-builder and chairman of the Davis-Brown committee last spring, in New York Tuesday. The two witnesses for tomorrow are G. F. Weaver, Philadelphia lawyer, and W. R. Douglas, assistant to Vaulchain.

The North Dakotan said he was confident total expenditures of $1,000,000 or more by the ticket will be shown.

Senator C. C. Dill, Dem., Wash., said the question to be decided was how much went for Davis' expense. He added he was not inclined to discard the 1922 precedent of the Newberry case, in which the senate ruled that $195,000 was too much.

Dill announced he would introduce soon a measure to limit expenditures in senatorial primaries to "warn candidates that the senate will not stand for 'purchase of seats'." he said.

Meanwhile the White House disclosed that the nomination of William N. Doak, Virginia railway trainman, to be secretary of labor succeeding Davis, would be sent to the senate probably tomorrow.

Democratic leaders who upheld the immediate seating of Davis explained that this does not mean they will vote against any resolution to unseat Davis on account of excess expenditures. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the minority

3 Arraigned On Theft Charges

Three men charged with burglary following their apprehension after an automobile chase along San Pablo avenue by El Cerrito police appeared for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom yesterday.

The three men: Joe Pago, 25; Ralph Encinas, 22 and John R. Moreno, 23 were held in absence of $1000 cash bail, in the city prison.

They are alleged to have entered the house of Walter Braum of South Fifty-sixth street and taken two revolvers and two holsters all of which was allegedly found in the car at the time of their arrest.

BACKGROUND OF UNCLE TOM'S CABIN TOLD

RICHMOND, Ind.—Uncle Tom, the Negro around whom Harriet Beecher Stowe wove her famous novel, died in Indiana from exposure suffered while escaping from his master, Dr. Henry Coffin Fellow, descendant of the Quaker couple who befriended Eliza, said Eliza Harris, famous for her trip across the Ohio river ice, also actually lived, but the story of her life was altered to make it more readable, Dr. Fellows said.

Dr. Fellows, Quaker educator and poet, now living at Witchita, Kans., said Uncle Tom was befriended by his great-uncle, Levi Coffin.

Had Slavery

"Coffin lived in Newport, Ind., near the Ohio line, and owned a cotton mill in Cincinnati. He imported cotton from England rather than use that from the southern plantations, due to his hatred of slavery. He was so strongly against slavery that he became president of the famous underground railway system.

"Uncle Tom worked under a cruel taskmaster in Lexington, Ky., who whipped him unmercifully and he determined to escape. He heard of Coffin's kindness and decided to go to his house. The first night of his flight, Uncle Tom walked along a railroad track. The next day he hid in a cornfield until it was dark enough to continue. It took two days to reach the Ohio river and by that time he was exhausted. The cold caused him much suffering.

Ferried Across

He was ferried across the river by a free Negro and was taken to the Coffin home. He became ill with pneumonia and was sick for nine weeks. Then he died. Simon Legree did not kill him and, it is probable that the notorious slave driver was a character who had the worst parts of several anti-abolitionists instead of being a real person as the others were.

"Eliza lived near Ripley, O., and was owned by a kind man in straitened circumstances. When she heard he would be forced to sell her two year old son she took the child and made the famous river crossing. She also went to the Coffin home and later reached Canada. She did not go to Africa as a missionary, as the book describes, but remained in Canada, and as far as is known, never had any acquaintance with Uncle Tom."

Big Drop Seen In Honey Crop

CLOSE SEASON ON HUSBANDS

IT'S open season, or it soon will be, for hunting all sorts of wild animals—For deer, for pheasant, for squirrel, for rabbit, for duck—But women have just received a warning, on this very page, That now is the time to lay off the pot-shots.

Aimed at that usually tame victim of the female hunting instinct—The domesticated husband—Late fall and early winter are the most serious danger periods in marriage—So, by way of Coralle Van Paassen, a famous French psychologist warns the American wife, Autumn influences, says Prof. Anatole Urban, make the male of the species irritable—Put him in a mood to argue and contradict. This is due, the professor explains, to an old primeval instinct Which awakens on the eve of winter storms—An ancestral memory of primitive man's fiercest autumnal struggle

To bring home the food supply for the winter months—

A struggle with wild weather and beasts of prey, in which man might easily perish.

Modern man's subconsciousness remembers this harsh strife.

And the memory makes him depressed and grouchy in autumn.

Therefore, argues Prof. Urban, his wife must be especially cheerful and sympathetic.

If the pair are to go through the fall without serious quarrelling.

We agree with his conclusion that autumn should be a close season on husbands!

Although we doubt if it's necessary to go back to primeval instinct, or subconscious memory.

In order to account for male irritability and depression at this time of year.

We think they are due to a cause

Very much in the present, and on the surface of male consciousness—

This cause is simply the banefulness of BILLS!

There's the autumnal installment on the children's board and tuition bills, at school and college.

The bill for the winter's coal, which should have been bought in May but probably wasn't.

The tax bill—and the September and December income tax payments.

The bill for painting the house, or refinishing the floors, or buying a

Chinese rug for the living room, or putting up new curtains.

Or whatever it is that the lady of the house declares simply MUST be done.

As a part of the autumnal cleaning and refurbishing.

The bill for the family's fall clothes—

Besides all the regular bills for food and gas and electricity and telephone and plumbing and papers and ice and service.

Besides the THOUGHT of Christmas shopping and Christmas tidings

just around the corner.

And of the bills that always add to the New Year's joy!

No wonder the most amiable American husband feels that this is his month to howl!

No wonder he resents anything in the way of rapid-fire criticism, verbal sniping, from the wife of his basin!

It's really an excellent time for her to cease firing—

Just now, before the would-be-happy holiday season!

Even though it be true, as J. W.

Drawbell, editor of the London

Chronicle, recently pointed out,

That the discontented, dissatisfied

American wife "gets a man somewhere in life."

That her ambitions for social and material progress spur on her husband

"Until he feels inspired to reach out for bigger things!"

Even so, there is a time for spurring and a time for soothing.

An observer nearer home, the Rev.

Clinton C. Cox of Chicago, has just warned us

That nagging is responsible for more domestic troubles than any other one cause.

And when a man doesn't feel like being criticized,

When he doesn't feel like being "inspired to reach out for bigger things?"

"Nagging" is what he calls it!

Finally, in this autumn of 1930, probably more husbands are more irritated than usual—

Since they are worrying not only about their bills but about their jobs—

If they haven't lost them, they may lose them tomorrow—

Or have to "take a cut."

Judge William M. Lewis of the Philadelphia Domestic Relations Court has just added the growth of mental dis-order in the home

To the evils of unemployment—

Domestic discontent, he says, passes into irritability.

Which in time leads to quarrels and finally to separation.

All in all, then, this had better be a

close season on husbands—

No matter how good a wife's marksmanship!

The poor dear men have their troubles.

And what they need, just now, is protection!

PRODIGAL

I broke my string of amber beads.

Winking, they rolled away.

I'm giving you that rope of pearls

You snivled yesterday.

These ruby earrings tire me now.

They look so dull and dead—

I wish I'll get cascading drops

In emerald instead.

A crystal pendant I must have.

Jade bracelets—three or four—

At noon I'll have to poke around

The nearest ten-cent store.

What Are the Little Women Coming To?

Mrs. Hannah G. Finney of Pittsburgh has just been granted a divorce, on the plea that her husband treated his dog better than he did her. Mrs.

Frank Kurtz of Detroit testified on the same day that her home was broken up because her husband read

Schopenhauer's views on women. But why in the world should an up-and-coming wife allow herself to be beaten by either a live dog or a dead philosopher?

CA DISH CA DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1931

All through the holiday season which begins with Thanksgiving and continues through New Year's Day, turkeys, chickens, ducks, and geese are the favored main courses for festive dinners. And with all this holiday marketing ahead of us it is well to review the characteristics of the best grade of table birds on the market. Not that I mean to foster any feeling of distrust in your mind toward your butcher.

Most of them are helpful and kindly men who will aid you in selecting the best that the market affords. But if you know a real expert in their own pet subject, you will find that they are even more eager to please.

Good quality dressed birds show eyes that are bright and full, feet that are small, moist, and pink, a body that is plump, and fairly firm, and skin that is clear and free from bruises or stains.

The lower part of the breast bone in a very young bird should be very flexible. It becomes firm and brittle with age. As the bird matures, its feet become hard and rough. The more pronounced these characteristics are, the older the bird is. The claws of young birds are short and sharp, becoming longer and blunter in older birds.

A growth of hair indicates age in either chickens or turkeys; plentiful pin feathers denote a young bird. The feet of ducks or geese should be white and soft and the wings tender. The body should be plump and thick, the fat light and transparent, and the breast-bone soft. The beak of young ducks and geese should be flesh-colored and brittle, while the wind pipe should break easily when pressed between thumb and forefinger. If the birds have remained in the market a long time the eyes are dull and shrunken and the feet are dry and hard.

General directions for roasting a turkey are as follows:

ROAST TURKEY

Singe the bird carefully, holding it over a gas flame and turning very slowly. Loosen the tendons an inch below the leg joint, and placing a skewer under the tendons pull out, one at a time. Break off the feet. Remove the pin feathers, using a pair of tweezers or a strawberry huller. Make sure that the oil bag has been removed from the tail, then using a small poultry or vegetable brush, scrub the bird thoroughly inside and out. Dry carefully and rub the inside of the bird well with salt. Place in the refrigerator until time to start cooking, then stuff with the following, or your favorite dressing.

TURKEY STUFFING

1 large loaf stale white bread,

1 onion, chopped fine

1/2 cup celery, chopped fine

1 liver, gizzard, and heart of turkey, cooked and minced.

1/2 cup butter

1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

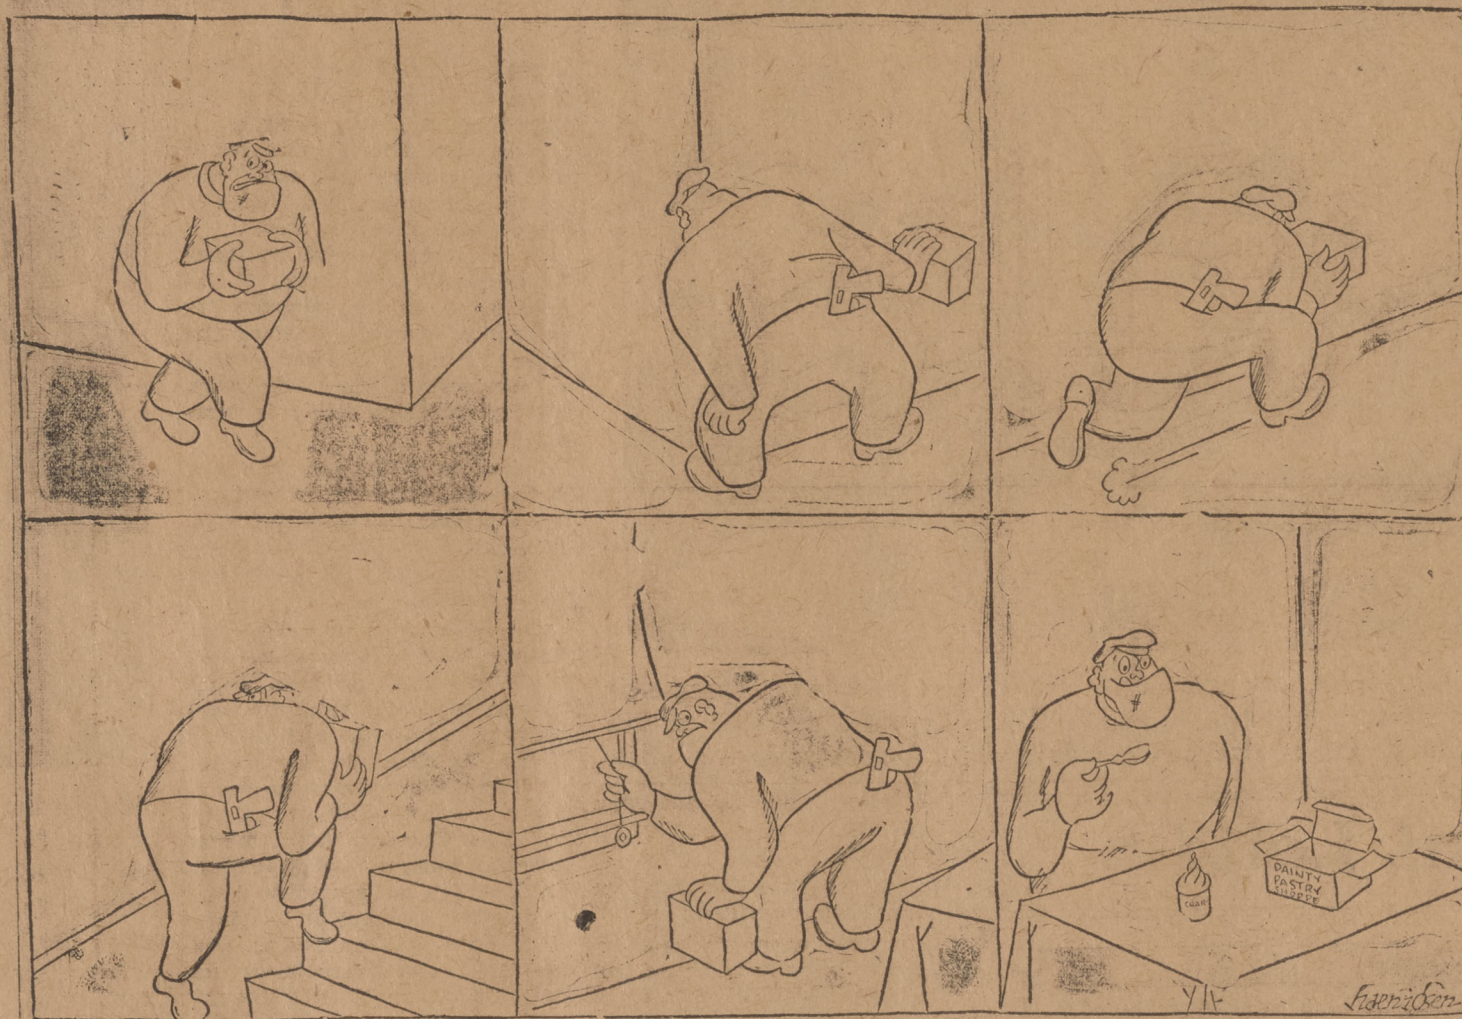

1/2 cup raisins

Crumble the bread, pour hot water over it and squeeze dry. Beat the butter in a skillet, add the chopped giblets, onion and celery and cook until onions are faintly brown. Add bread crumbs, raisins, and seasoning and cook for about five minutes, stirring constantly. Cool and stuff into the turkey. Sew, or skewer the opening.

Rub the surface of the turkey with salt, dust with flour and dot with butter. Place in a roasting pan and roast uncovered in a hot oven ten minutes. Cover and reduce the temperature to 400 degrees and allow 20 minutes for each pound. Baste frequently with hot water and butter.

Something About Deodorants

OFTEN we are asked, "What is a good deodorant?" Sometimes the question takes this form, "What is a safe deodorant?" And this not being a shopping column, we cannot answer with trade names. We can speak only in a general way on the subject, but a helpful way we trust nonetheless.

Whereas once were dress shields, plain talcum powder or toilet water, there are now perspiration deodorants, eliminators and neutralizers. There are liquids and creams and there are powders for all these purposes. Liquids whose effects last for as long as a day, and which may be used daily if the user is to preserve consistent daintiness, and powders which must be used as frequently.

This department knows of no powder which will keep the under-arms fragrant and dry on one application a week. But then what of it?

Nor do we mean to be factious. What woman objects to spending a minute or two a day to achieve day-long body fragrance? More especially if the powder happens also to be soothing, cooling and subtly scented, as well as a neutralizer of perspiration odor.

Of the creams and the liquids for under-arm use, you have your choice of eliminators and neutralizers. The eliminators dam up the perspiration outlets—driving the perspiration to other parts of the body, to be sure. The neutralizers make the perspiration odorless and in the case of some preparations have a drying effect also.

Now there are systems which rebel against the damming up method. Their rebellion takes the form of itching or burning, or rash even. After all, you know, perspiration is but another name for the elimination of body poisons, isn't it? And some of its manufacture mere poisons than others.

So when we are asked to name a "safe" deodorant, we feel that we are on the safe side when we suggest the liquids, powders and creams which necessitate daily use, and the neutralizers rather than the absolute eliminators of perspiration.

People with a marked tendency to acidity certainly are not doing the sensible thing when they put an absolute check on any of the perspiration glands. For them perspiration is a tremendous and a most essential means of relief. And it seems to this department that the smartest way to daintiness was just made for them.

There are excellent and most convenient deodorants in the beauty shops today, among them are some which not only neutralize unpleasant natural scents but absorb the troublesome moisture, at the same time cooling and soothing the skin.

A Sun Room for the Winter

IT becomes fashionable to have a sun room, particularly during the winter time, so everybody has a sun room. But whether the sun ever enters that room or not is something else again and an important factor that may be forgotten.

If you live in an apartment at the wrong side of a great big house there isn't much you can do except in the way of interior decoration. If you have your own home, even on the wrong side of the street, additional windows can be built at comparatively little cost, so that the sun can peer through and a real sun room be achieved.

No matter which side of the street is yours, the potential sun room can be furnished so attractively and so sunnily as to make one not only think of sun but of summer, too. And nothing is so comforting as summer atmosphere inside when there is nothing more than cold, bleak winter outside.

Plants, gay colors and the correct furniture and the real sun are the things to be most carefully looked for when making the sun room the room it ought to be.

Plants for Kitchen Windows

WINTER is now popular and after Christmas many a window will have one of these bowls, containing a spray or two of growing English ivy, suspended in the window.

You can have a hanging vine in the sunny kitchen window that will be quite as attractive. Hunt up a fancy-shaped wide-necked bottle or jar; paint the inside to match the kitchen color scheme, when dry fill three-quarters full of cold water and put in a small sweet potato, then hang it in this window.

It will not be long before you will notice a delicate vine coming out of the bottle and this will spread into a pretty ivy-like vine—that is, if you do not forget to add fresh water when necessary, probably every other day.

Threading the Needle

YOU can get a simple needle-threading device that will enable you to thread a needle without difficulty. If this does not happen to be at hand, hold a small piece of stiff white paper in one hand with the needle over it.

This white background will enable you to see the eye clearly, and you can easily thread the needle.

Placing white paper on the machine needle will work the same way.

ELKS SHOW WILL BE GIVEN HERE THURSDAY

There are enough good seats left for the Elks charity show "Rollin' Along" for everyone, even though reservations have taken many of them, it was reported from headquarters last night.

Reservations were first made last Saturday, and have been made every day since that time. The office at 927 Macdonald avenue will be open every day until show time as late as six o'clock.

A box office at the high school where the play is to be given tomorrow and Friday nights will supply wants of persons who will see the show and have not made reservations.

The dancing choruses under direction of Matilda Meyer will be a feature of the production. The girls chorus representing barmaids at Heidelberg Inn will dance to German and American music. Matilda Meyer kiddies will also perform during the entertainment.

Frank Tiller and Charles Drake will add a comedy dance during the last act, the principal part of the production. The comedy dance will be staged to the tune of "Dancing with Tears in my Eyes."

Rehearsals for this feature are being held at the present time and will be ready for presentation the first night of the show.

Last night practically the entire cast was ready for their respective parts in the production. Earl Caldwell in charge of the show has been drilling the actors for the past several months and has announced himself as well pleased regarding the showing made by the participants.

He was sent to Los Angeles after his arrest here and served a sentence when convicted there. Hainline was arrested in the act of allegedly burglarizing a grocery store at the corner of San Pablo avenue and Cutting boulevard, El Cerrito.

Party Planned At Steger Church Soon

On Thursday evening, Dec. 11 the Steger Presbyterian church is to present a benefit program in their main auditorium. There will be many entertaining numbers during the evening and the climax will be the one act play entitled "The Color Line" which is a clever and entertaining production. This announcement comes as a surprise to all as the talent is from out of town they having produced the play on two or three other occasions. There will be no sale of tickets but the people in charge will depend upon a free-will offering for the amount which it is hoped will be raised. The talent is donated to the church which is a fine contribution and much enthusiasm has been shown over the show wherever it has been presented. The pastor of Steger is asking that co-operation of all the churches of Richmond in making this event a great success.

Balkan Political Leader Shot To Death In Home

SOVIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 2.—UP—Maum Tomalevski, leader of the Macedonian Protogeroff party, was shot dead at his home today by two men.

The assassins were arrested. It was believed the assassins were members of the Mihailoff party, opposed to Tomalevski's political group.

It was recalled that Ivan Mihailoff was accused of instigating murders of Protogeroffist action leaders in the past, and that members of his party had been involved in charges of similar nature in connection with acts of violence in recent years.

Mihailoff was charged with the murder of General Alexander Protogeroff, shot down in the main street of Sofia, in July, 1923.

The feud between the factions is of long standing. The wing led by the late General Protogeroff favored incorporation of Macedonia as a federal state under Greece, Bulgaria or Yugoslavia, among which its rather vague boundaries are divided. The Mihailoff faction favored complete independence.

The murder of General Protogeroff by the Mihailoff faction was claimed by them to be an "execution" in reprisal for the killing of Todor Alexandroff, leader of the Autonomists, in the Bulgarian mountains in 1924.

Frequent assassinations have occurred in the past five or six years as the feud persists, and the Macedonian "Kettle of Hell" continues to boil.

Homer Patterson Heads Alpha Lodge

Homer W. Patterson will succeed E. C. Lambrecht as worshipful master of Alpha lodge of Masons.

That was decided last night when officers for the year 1931 were elected. Installation of these officers will be held Dec. 16 at which time a dinner will be given at 6:30 p. m.

In addition to Patterson, John W. Lee was elected senior warden; Frank C. Shallenberger, junior warden; Willard Poage, treasurer; Hutt Brown, secretary; W. J. Richards Jr., trustee.

Next Tuesday Richmond DeMolay will install their officers at a session to be witnessed by Alpha lodge hosts for the evening.

Robbers Frightened Away From Home

WEST LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—UP—Two suspected burglars bound and gagged the colored maid in the residence of Mrs. Winifred Reibold here today, but were frightened away before robbing the house, according to district police tonight.

Her attention attracted by the barking of a dog, Mrs. Reibold investigated and found the maid, Camille Alex, trussed and gagged in the yard of the California River home.

The maid reported the men knocked her unconscious when she answered the bell.

Sons Of St. George Installs Officers

With Herbert Shuttleworth, president, officers of Sons of St. George were installed by Marshall Rose of Fruitvale, district grand president with the assistance of San Mateo drill team last night.

An initiation conducted by San Mateo degree team was also held last night. Visitors were present from Oakland, San Francisco, San Mateo, and Fruitvale.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of John Faulkner, Alfred Powell and W. Fevans. A Christmas party is to be held by the group Dec. 19.

DRY LAW FACES TEST SOON IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Dec. 2.—UP—The first real test of prohibition sentiment in England will take place in the next few weeks, when the prohibition bill of Edwin Schrymgeour comes before the house of commons for a second reading.

Schrymgeour's bill is the culmination of 40 years of endeavor to bring about prohibition in England. It is a thoroughgoing project, for it combines the provisions of the Volstead act and the 18th amendment to the United States constitution.

Prohibits Sale

The bill prohibits the manufacture, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes. It defines alcoholic liquors as "absolute alcohol or liquors in which alcohol is present, whether as the result of fermentation, distillation or admixture."

Clause 1 provides that all existing licenses to manufacture or sell liquor shall expire on the April 5 immediately following the passage of the act. No new licenses shall be granted after that day.

The second clause makes it illegal for any person to manufacture, import or sell, or be concerned in the manufacture, importation or sale of alcoholic liquors with certain exceptions provided in clause 3.

Alcohol "Poison"

This clause provides that there shall be no obstruction of the use of liquor for scientific or industrial purposes. If alcohol is required for medicinal purposes, however, it shall only be supplied in bottles labeled "poison" by qualified medical practitioners or by registered chemists.

The bill passed the first reading recently, but this was only a formality. It is confidently predicted that the opponents of prohibition will win a victory on the second reading.

Poles down - - lines out -

But the calls still went through

A SUDDEN FLOOD carried out the telephone lines between two western cities. It would be hours before the poles could be reset. But the repair crews were equal to the crisis.

While construction went ahead at top speed, a squad of telephone men stood waist-deep in the surging streambed, holding a temporary line on their shoulders. Countless messages of reassurance and safety passed over the temporary line.

All in the day's work . . . the message must go through.
